

From Rotation to Outflows: In the left picture, a windmill uses rotational energy to pump water to surrounding fields. In the right picture, a rapidly-rotating, highly-magnetic neutron star deep inside the Crab Nebula generates outflows of energetic particles.

