

Seeding the Environment: In the left picture, Bees distribute pollen, promoting reproduction in plants. In the right picture, a supernova explosion distributes iron, oxygen, and other heavy elements necessary for the ultimate formation of planets and their contents.

